

CHARACTER: THE ACTORS IN A STORY

Title of Selection: _____

Author: _____

Types of Characters	Examples from the Selection
Round characters are complex and multidimensional, like real people.
Flat characters are one dimensional and superficial; they can be described in a single sentence.
Dynamic characters change in an important way because of the story's action.
Static characters do not change much or at all during a story.
Stock characters are predictable stereotypes of people.
Motivation of Round Characters	Examples from the Selection
Motivation is the underlying force(s) that causes a character to act a certain way.	